

BSQ CODE CARD

FUNCTION

Represents the action we want to achieve with the code.

TRANSFORMATION

It is applied when it is necessary to change some element of the situation.

REACTION

Including the concept of reaction in the code reduces the biofield's rejection and increases the chances of success.

NEO

It is applied when problems cannot be solved by modifying existing elements.

WORK

Represents the physical or mental work that the individual must perform to achieve the objective.

MEMORY

It needs to be included in your code so that it remains effective without the need to implement it on a daily basis.
